Midterm Project

This project I created to tell how when at night at around 3 A.M there is a group I stan called Ateez. There is a time differences here and South Korea so sometimes they have online concerts that are in the morning and end like around 6 A.M. I wanted to show how outside is dark and how it goes inside the room and I am setting up the computer to connect it to the tv screen and shows a light stick that shows im am supporting them and I added an image of the light stick so the user can also join in. I also added text box where it the user can pretend to be there and is watching the live too and can say things like “This is cool” or “We support you” something like that and at the end I added how the sun is coming up and the other page to say to listen to them.
